A German-speaking community in Valchiusella, near Issiglio, at 900 meters in the middle of a beautiful deciduous forest, there live about 10 people in yurts and newly built old stone houses in a very imaginative, creative way, they have a large garden, live completely "off grid", with their own spring, solar system etc. The landscape is vast and free, with views far into the country into the high mountains....

From there you can walk directly into wild nature...

We have found here very open and hearty people, a family that carries the whole and some single people...

Near the main house (Casa Grande), below the garden, there is a large group room yurt (fully furnished with mats, seats, stove etc) and a large medicine wheel:

There we can be and work in peace:

A community yurt for sleeping and some tent sites in the forest are available for us....

There is a nice communal kitchen where we can cook for ourselves with a large dining area in the Bach House, there is a compost-toilet nearby and a bathroom with a warm shower!
